To “The Ugly Slave” by Hsin Ch’i-Chi (1140-1207)

In youth, not knowing the taste of sorrow,
I loved to ascend the storied towers,
I loved to ascend the storied towers,
And, to fashion verses, I made myself speak of sorrow.

And now that I have known the taste of sorrow,
I should speak of it but refrain,
I should speak of it but refrain,
Instead I say, “A cool day, a fine autumn.”

2. What does the poem mean to me when read “normally”?

3. What is my plan for this project? What might the end result sound like? (this will change, which is OK)

4. What audio editing techniques, effects, or approaches can I use to achieve my goal?
